EYE TO EYE.
It takes a keen and practiced eye to detect the optical needs of another's eye. There must be no guesswork—no chance-prescribing of glasses. The right kind must be given, or the results may be altogether fatal to the eyesight. We are expert opticians with a life-long experience in the treatment of the human eye, in so far as supplying proper glasses and in the use of the eye. If you think you need glasses, come to us for a free examination.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT

Doylestown, June 1, 1909.
Good jurors are scarce, that is the opinion of a prominent lawyer of the County Seat. They are scarce, he says, because they are either prejudiced or on the verge of being so. He accused to run away with them, or want to usurp the duties of the Court by bringing the punishment to be meted out.
"Lawyers must contend with one or all of these things in all prosecutions," he said. "The jury is the only body which is not so sure as it should be. Prejudice and slovenly sympathy often enter into the jury's deliberations. Regularly men are brought by many things. Narrow-minded men may allow their prejudices to be influenced by the fact that they are one of the other of the parties are members of the same political party or some society, or because they are friends of attorneys on one side or the other. Prejudice may unconsciously influence otherwise honest and earnest men. Sympathy is a strong factor in the jury's deliberations. It is especially where the victims are poor persons and the defendants are corporations. Anyone who has attended civil court and seen the jury in deliberation, will be convinced of the truth of these statements. It is a pity that the jury system is so imperfectly administered. It is a pity that the jury system is so imperfectly administered. It is a pity that the jury system is so imperfectly administered."
